*But be ye doers of the word,
and not hearers only,
deceiving your own selves.*

James 1:22

God's Word is given to us in order that we may learn the truth and follow the truth. God's purpose for us in following His truth is to make us free (John 8:31) from sin, guilt and the past life that has been a load and a burden to us. It also helps us become more like the Lord Jesus, more loving in our actions, kinder in our words and more helpful with our hands. In order for the truth to help us in our lives, we have to actively apply the word of God to our lives. If you are tempted to steal, having learned God's word and knowing it teaches "thou shalt not steal", you would follow the Word of God with you heart and not steal. In teaching the Jewish believers, what was James' counsel about the word of God?

He counseled them to do the word of God, not just be a hearer of it

from the pastor's heart

"Doers" means a performer. A performer has a script to act out. He studies the script, understands the script, commits the script to memory and then, in rehearsals, acts out the script. What an apt description of a Christian doer! We have the script of God's word: we are to learn it, understand it, commit it to memory and act on it. We are to obey it the way it is written so that we may be versed in the Word. The performer is ready to act on the script as it is presented to him.

The hearer, on the other hand, merely listens to the word. After hearing the word, He goes away and forgets what he hears, and the Word has no effect on him, his mind, his heart and his life. Is it possible that this is why many Christians remain unchanged and unmoved in their lives? They do not become more like Christ, but more like the world, simply because they do what comes naturally?

He tells them that they will deceive themselves otherwise

'Deceiving your own selves.'

Deception is defined as misleading an individual from the right and proper way, direction or situation. Self-deception will then be defined as misleading oneself from the right and the proper way, direction or situation. Why do people not want to walk in the way of truth but choose to deceive themselves? Do we know the truth of God's Word in the different situations? Are we willing to walk consistent with that? If not, we are deceiving ourselves.

He counsels them that knowing what is right to do but not doing it is sin

Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin."

James 4:17

We are accountable for what we have heard.

When we have heard the truth, we are accountable for what we have heard. It is an important principle that God holds us accountable for what we have heard. Listen to the words of our blessed Saviour

Jesus said unto them, If ye were blind (we did not know in the first place), ye should have no sin: but now ye say, We see; therefore your sin remaineth."

John 9:41

Our Saviour counsels us that in obedience to God's word there are blessings

thought for the week

We overcome this world only by faith

memory verse

Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O LORD God of hosts.

FRIDAY CHURCH NEWS NOTES

EVANGELICALS PROMOTING NECROMANCY- A REVIEW OF "HAVE HEART"

The following is a review of Have Heart: Bridging the Gulf between Heaven and Hell by Steve and Sarah Berger, which is about the death of a child. The following is excerpted from a review by T.A. McMahon of The Berean Call. Have Heart is recommended by Chuck Missler, Greg Laurie, James Robison, and others. "The first part of the Bergers' book [contains] wonderful comfort and some sound biblical counsel. ... Sadly, however, midway through Hake Heart, the Bergers take leave of their statements regarding the objective Word of God and begin introducing their subjective experiences involving their deceased son, Josiah. Dreams become a vehicle of communication between Josiah and his family and friends. ... Communication through dreams featuring a deceased loved one quickly led to direct communication: 'Only two weeks after Josiah went to Heaven, I (Sarah) made it a habit to talk to Josiah. ... I would then be in instant conversation with Jesus and Siah [Josiah]' (p. 82). Sarah declared to her son that she needed 'to be involved with your life even now' (p. 82). ... The authors introduce many things that are allegedly taking place in heaven that are not specifically taught in the Bible. ... They offer support for the legitimacy of their view experientially by adding that 'several people in our family and inner circle of friends have experienced similar meetings with Josiah,' including their pastor. ## BROTHER CLOUD BANNED BY INDEPENDENT BAPTIST PREACHERS' LISTS

In November of last year I was banned from the IBF-Preachers list. After two of my articles were posted to the list ("What's Missing in Soul Winning Programs" and "Reply to a Pastor about West Coast: Good Fruit, Hamilton, Gaither, Pastoral Ignorance, etc."), I tried unsuccessfully to subscribe simply to answer the replies and personal attacks for myself. (The moderator originally said that I didn't submit the application properly and that he didn't know it was from me, but even when he was informed that I was trying to join the list he continued to bar me.) Then in December a pastor submitted another of my articles ("Why Most Fundamental Baptist Churches Will Be Emerging within Two Decades") to the BP Canada list. The moderator reproved the pastor for posting the article, warning him that he now had "two strikes" against him. These actions and the comments by many of the IFB preachers only demonstrate the truth of my warning in "Why Most FBC Will Be Emerging." I listed the following five reasons: (1) the maligning of warning and reproof, (2) unquestioning loyalty to man, (3) following the crowd, (4) ignorance about important issues, (5) soft separatism. I never cease to be amazed at the way that many preachers reply to my writings. The reports and books I publish are extensively researched and carefully, prayerfully written, but the responses are typically nothing more than personal attacks, cheap shots, and near-childish sloganizing (e.g., "don't shoot the wounded"). One reason why so many preachers respond inadequately is that instead of making the effort actually to read what I have said and to measure it with God's Word, they depend on what some other Baptist preacher says about me. This is evident from the responses but it is not wise, and such willful ignorance is going to be the downfall of a large number of IB churches. There is not an independent Baptist preacher who could not benefit from reports such as "Musical Associations and CCM Adaptation," "Analyzing Adapted CCM Songs," "The Transformational Power of Contemporary Praise Music," "Why Most Independent Baptist Churches Will Be Emerging within Two Decades," and the new free eBook "Biblical Separatism and Its Collapse among Fundamental Baptists" - - regardless of whether he agrees with every conclusion I reach. "Despise not prophesyings. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good" (1 Thessalonians 5:20-21). "He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him" (Proverbs 18:13).

ARCHIE COMICS PROMOTING SAME-SEX "MARRIAGE"

Archie Comics is promoting same-sex "marriage" in its Life With Archie series. A newly-introduced character, Kevin Keller, gets married to his homosexual partner in a full-blown wedding, "Walking down the aisle, surrounded by friends and family" ("Archie Comics," Christian Post, Jan. 11, 2012). The smiling male couple appear on the cover of issue No. 16, January 2012, under a banner which says "Just Married." The comic publisher reported that reception to the new storyline has been "enthusiastic" and there has been a surge in readership. This reminds us that the pop media is not morally and spiritually neutral, not even when it comes to children's comics, cartoons, and toys. Often it is more about philosophical brainwashing than entertainment, and God's people must walk in wisdom and godly caution as we live as strangers and pilgrims in this fallen world. The Bible says that the devil is the "god of this world" (2 Cor. 4:4) and he is actively involved in the lives and thinking of "his people." "Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience" (Ephesians 2:2).

latter declares, "The next thing I knew, Josiah came into [the church] sanctuary ... and he got down on one knee and bent to speak into my ear" (pp. 99-100). Much of what the Bergers hold for their hope in heaven is not stated in the Bible. ... They transfer things they love about their temporal life into the eternal realm, particularly their family relationships, and they see that relationship continuing with their deceased son: "We want all of us to continue to have relationship with Siah right up until the day that we are face-to-face in Heaven with him" (p. 103). Just because someone wants it doesn't make it so. We know that our relationships with unbelieving family members will not continue in heaven. How joyful, then, would a family unit be there with perhaps multiple missing members? Will there be family relationships in heaven? No matter what our rationale, Scripture simply does not tell us. We do know that there is neither marrying nor those given in marriage in heaven (Mat. 22:30). ... One of the dangers of this book for a person who doesn't study the Word of God for himself (which is epidemic today) is that he is disarmed by the multiple claims of biblical veracity, which give way to human speculations--which are then accepted as biblical truth. With no scriptural support, the Bergers write, "We know that [Josiah] can see us, hear us, and even be involved, not only in our lives but also in the lives of his friends. We are continually hearing of Siah coming to friends in dreams....The dreams are incredibly profound and always prove God's Word, point to the glory of God, and compel us to get closer to Jesus" (p. 104). They add, "We mean no disrespect to the prophets, but the idea of Siah being able to observe the choices we make here on earth is way more motivating as we seek to live for God moment-by-moment..." (p. 107; italics added). ... In their attempt to comfort those who have also lost loved ones to death, the Bergers fail to give the biblical warnings of spiritual deception, especially since their grieving state may make them terribly vulnerable to Satan's ploys, such as transforming himself 'into an angel of light' (2 Cor. 11:14-15)."

IRANIAN PASTOR REFUSES TO DENY CHRIST IN EXCHANGE FOR FREEDOM

The following is from the Christian Post, Jan. 14, 2012: "International Christian news agency BosNewsLife claims to have received information from persecution watchdog Christian Solidarity Worldwide Friday, confirming that Nadarkhani had refused an offer to be released from prison in exchange for his public acknowledgement of the prophet Muhammad as 'a messenger sent by God,' as believed by adherents of Islam. ... Nadarkhani, an evangelical pastor, has remained in Iranian prison since October 2009. He was originally arrested for protesting against the teaching of Islam in his children's schools. His charges were later changed to apostasy and attempting to evangelize Muslims. He was sentenced to death unless he renounce his Christian faith, and Nadarkhani continues to hold strong to his beliefs in Jesus. Iran received a large amount of international criticism for violating the international covenant on civil and political rights in Nadarkhani's case. Intense pressure eventually caused Iranian officials to pass Nadarkhani's case to Ayatollah Ali Khamenei for final review, where the case now sits, awaiting a verdict. U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, the Europe Union, 89 members of Congress, France, Great Britain and Mexico have all condemned Iran, demanding Nadarkhani's release."

THE MULTIPLE MURDER THAT SHOULD NOT HAVE HAPPENED

Last week Paul Gilkey shot and killed his son and two sisters-in-law in front of his terminally ill wife, Darlene, and then turned the gun on himself (“Terminally Ill Woman Witnesses Husband Kill 3 Family Members,” FoxNews, Jan. 11, 2012). The murders occurred over a dispute about whether Darlene, who is bed-ridden with cancer, should have been fed tea and toast or the orange that her husband peeled for her. All of the victims were shot in the head. This vicious mayhem should never have happened, because Gilkey was convicted of murdering a man in the 1970s and should have been put to death as God’s law requires. Instead, he served a 10-year prison sentence. God’s law of capital punishment predates the law of Moses. It was given to Noah following the Flood and is intended for all nations. “And surely your blood of your lives will I require; at the hand of every beast will I require it, and at the hand of man; at the hand of every man’s brother will I require the life of man. Whoso sheddeth man’s blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man” (Genesis 9:5-6). Unbelievers think God’s laws are too hard and overly strict, but actually they are the way of life and blessing and true freedom. Man was not made to follow his own way; he was made for intimate association with the wonderful God of Creation; and God’s way is always the best way.

GREECE TREATS PEDOPHILIA AS A “DISABILITY”

In an act worthy of ancient Sodom and Canaan, Greece has added pedophilia to its list of government-recognized disabilities. Exhibitionists and kleptomaniacs also won a place on the list, joining fetishists and sadomasochists (“Pedophilia Added,” CNSNews, Jan. 9, 2012). This is a product of humanistic psychology which has thumbed its nose at Almighty God and His holy laws by redefining sin as disease. In America, some activists are going much farther. They are pushing to normalize pedophilia as merely another “alternative lifestyle.” They even have a new name for this sin -- “minor-attracted people” -- and are pursuing the same strategy that was used by homosexual activists in the 1970s to remove “same sex attraction” from the American Psychiatric Association’s list of mental defects in its Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders. J. Matt Barber, vice president of Liberty Counsel Action, says the proponents are the disciples of Alfred Kinsey and represent “the North American Man-Boy Love Association all dolled up and dressed in the credible language of the elitist Ph.Ds.” (WorldNetDaily, August 22, 2011).

THE KEY TO SANCTIFICATION

Many teachers have espoused one particular key to sanctification in the Christian life. For some it is “abiding in Christ,” and they use John 15 as the key. For others it is a second blessing or a spiritual baptism of some sort. For others it is to rest in or dwell on one’s identification with Christ at the cross (e.g., the “Calvary Road”). John Piper proposes “Christian hedonism” as the key. Yes, many “keys” have been proposed, but the Bible takes a multiple approach to sanctification and spiritual victory. It is not only resting or not only abiding or whatever, it is abiding and resting and yielding and obeying and avoiding and pursuing, etc. If there were one “key” to sanctification and spiritual victory, the New Testament epistles would be much shorter than they are. Writing to the church at Corinth, for example, Paul would merely have laid out the “key” and that would have been the end of the problem.

EXCEPT THE LORD KEEP THE CITY

"... except the LORD keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain" (Psalms 127:1). America has a great military, and its military technology is impressive, and I thank the Lord for the brave men and women who fight on the front lines in defense of the nation. It is the only nation that can project an aircraft carrier battle group to multiple parts of the world at the same time. Its military satellites span the globe. Its special forces are brilliantly trained and powerfully motivated. But none of this can protect the nation from its enemies without God's blessing. America's military might and global spy machine didn't protect it on 9/11, because "... except the LORD keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." America's stealth drones are a marvel, but they fall into hands of the silliest of its enemies to be displayed for all the world to behold. "... except the LORD keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." The book Seal Target Geronimo describes the impressive training and equipment that made the mission to kill Osama Bin Ladin a success by Seal Team Six. The book calls Seal Team Six "Jedis," but the "Jedi" training didn't save the fabled Navy Seals on that sad day a few weeks later when their helicopter crashed. "... except the LORD keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." Other than Israel herself, no nation has had more spiritual light and no nation has sinned so grievously against that light, and America's military is a reflection of the nation. There is a "form of godliness" but the power thereof is denied (2 Tim. 3:5). There are some shining Christian testimonies in the military, but as a whole it is in open rebellion against Almighty God and His holy laws, flaunting acceptance of moral perversion. The special forces, with few exceptions, don't pray before missions, humbling themselves, acknowledging their sin and beseeching God's help. More typically they walk in arrogance and glory in their aptitude for drunkenness and licentiousness, like the Navy Seal who shot himself in the head last week in California after bringing a woman home from a bar. A drunken Seal or Green Beret or whatever is just a pathetic drunk and is no Jedi at all. America needs to fall on her face before God, from the lowliest citizen to the current occupant of the White House, and repent before it is too late. Above all, the churches need to repent for fearing man more than God and for loving the world more than Christ. Restoration will only come by this means. It certainly won't come by the dirty waters of compromising politics. "... except the LORD keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain."

CONCLUSION: The Friday Church News Notes is designed for use in churches and is published by Way of Life Literature's Fundamental Baptist Information Service. Unless otherwise stated, the Notes are written by David Cloud. Of necessity we quote from a wide variety of sources, but this obviously does not imply an endorsement. We trust that our readers will not be discouraged. It is God's will that we know the times (1 Ch. 12:32; Mat. 16:3) and that we be as wise as serpents and harmless as doves. The News Notes remind us that the hour is very late, and we need to be ready for the Lord's coming. Are you sure that you are born again? Are you living for Christ? "And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light. Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof" (Rom. 13:11-14). But he said, Yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.
 Luke 11:28

God is more blessed. The Lord Jesus places a high regard on obedience to the Word of GOD.

When the Lord was exalted by a lady who blessed the woman who bore the Lord Jesus, our Saviour told the lady that the person who keeps and obeys the word of

Are we obeying the word of God? God promises blessings for those who do. Will you be a doer of the word and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves?
